Customer Information on Conflict Minerals

Dear Customers,

In accordance with Section 1502 of the Dodd-Frank Act, companies listed on U.S. exchanges are obligated to disclose the use of "conflict minerals." These minerals include tantalum, tin, tungsten, and gold, originating from the Democratic Republic of Congo and its neighboring countries (Angola, Burundi, Central African Republic, Republic of Congo, Rwanda, South Sudan, Tanzania, Uganda, and Zambia), collectively known as the DRC region. Similar risks have recently been identified in other conflict and high-risk areas (Latin America, Myanmar, Nigeria) and other commodities such as mica and cobalt.

EU Regulation No. 2017/821 stipulates that organizations importing tin, tantalum, tungsten, their ores, and gold into the European Union must conduct a thorough examination of their supply chains. Under this regulation, downstream companies like MTP Messtechnik Produktions GmbH do not have direct obligations.

MTP Messtechnik Produktions GmbH considers its social responsibility regarding the environment, safety, health, and the preservation of human rights to be of utmost importance. In our business activities, we actively advocate for the peaceful and sustainable management of our global resources. We do not directly import "conflict minerals," and there is currently no indication that minerals from these conflict regions are present in our products.

We remain at your disposal for any further information

Yours faithfully,

MTP Messtechnik Produktions GmbH
